RACC seeks submissions for the Visual Chronicle of Portland

The Regional Arts & Culture Council (RACC) is seeking works on paper – prints, drawings, paintings on paper and photographs – to purchase for the Visual Chronicle of Portland collection. The budget for the purchase and framing of artwork is $10,000. The deadline for submissions is Friday, May 11, 2012

Background: The Visual Chronicle of Portland is a collection of original works on paper that portray artists' perceptions of what makes the City of Portland unique. The Chronicle is owned by the City, and exists as a subset of its Public Art Collection. Since its beginning in 1985, the Chronicle has grown to 280 works by 160 different artists and has established itself as an important archive of daily life in Portland, Oregon. RACC oversees the day-to-day management of the Visual Chronicle for the City and insures that the collection remains available to the public by rotating works throughout public spaces in City of Portland and Multnomah County buildings. The collection strives to reflect a diversity of populations, artistic disciplines and points of view.

Images and details of the entire collection can be seen by going to www.racc.org/visualchronicle

Submission Details: Works on paper—prints, drawings, paintings on paper and photographs—from professional artists familiar with Portland are eligible. For more information and to download guidelines in English or Spanish, visit the RACC website at www.racc.org (direct link: <http://www.racc.org/public-art/racc-opportunity-call-visual-chronicle-portland>) or contact program manager Keith Lachowicz at klachowicz@racc.org or 503-823-5404.
