The People, Life & Times on Tualatin Plains; Revealed Through the Writings of Alvin T. Smith

Settling on the West Tualatin Plain in the fall of 1841, Alvin Smith soon became known for the strength of his faith and moral standards, as well as being a hard worker and difficult to please. Smith's land claim was a crossroad for many people, and the early settlers were dependent upon one another when traveling and in need of a bed for a night. The presentation will cover many people of those settlement years and demonstrate the interdependence of the people in this region.

Our guest speaker for October will be Mary Jo Morelli, a descendant of early settlers of the region. Mary Jo is the current President of Friends of Historic Forest Grove, has served on its Board of Directors since its founding in 1989, and was co-chair of the FHFG Committee to Preserve the A.T. Smith Property during the initial purchase of the house.
