

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

April 9, 2018

BEAVERTON CITY LIBRARY HOSTS CONVERSATION ABOUT SEAFOOD IN OREGON

BEAVERTON, Ore. – Oregonians love local food, but finding truly local fish can be hard, even on the coast. We're now much more aware of ethically grown meat and vegetables, but seafood remains somewhat mysterious. How does that crab get from the ocean to our table, and what's the true cost of cheap salmon at the grocery store?

Join Beaverton City Library (12375 SW 5th St) on Saturday, Apr. 21 from 2 to 3:30 p.m. for a conversation about our complex relationship with American seafood. From cultural traditions to economic and ethical challenges, from the docks to the markets, food writer Jennifer Burns Bright will lead an exploration of ways to apply our food values to the products of the sea.

This program is free and open to the public; no registration is required. For more information, visit www.BeavertonLibrary.org or call 503-644-2197.

Beaverton City Library is one of fifteen member libraries in Washington County Cooperative Library Services (WCCLS), which works to provide responsive and efficient library service countywide through centralized catalog, courier and other services.

###

Caption: Join food writer Jennifer Burns Bright at Beaverton City Library for a conversation about our relationship with American seafood.